Re: JD Career Advisors Section Quarterly Report

Below, please find information about the JD Career Advisor Section's activities since our last report, including section communication and updates from work groups.

Section Communication

The Section held a quarterly conference call on January 24, 2017.

We discussed the Work Group's efforts on programing for the 2017 Annual Education Conference and began discussing possible topics for the 2017 AEC Programing RFP. We also discussed the Section meeting and make sure our table is properly staffed for the Welcome Reception in San Francisco.

Bulletin Articles submitted on behalf of the Section this year:

- 1. *Drawing the Line — When are your edits to student materials too much, George Podolin, September 2016
- 2. *Engaging Your Faculty, Leah Terranova and Allison Lintal, October 2016
- 3. *Partnering with Admission: Convincing Students That Law School Is Not the End Goal, Amber Brugnoli, March 2017

Environmental Scanning

In our conference call, we discussed the upcoming National Association of Law Student Affairs Professionals Conference to be held at UCLA June 1-3:

No one on the call was currently plans on attending, but there is programming aimed at integration of Graduate Program and International Students in the law school community, and Counseling vs. Coaching, both being presented by Legal Career Services professionals, as well as programing on professional development programming in the law school setting.
