The LRAP / CCRAA held calls on August 28, 2018 and December 4, 2018. The LRAP / CCRAA Work Group did not hold their quarterly call on March 12, 2019. Instead the group prepared for their upcoming webinar scheduled for April 24, 2019, “Creating Loan Repayment Assistance Programs: A Primer for Law Schools.”

The group continues to focus on PSLF in close partnership with EJW, while still providing resources to schools seeking to establish LRAPs.

The group is still actively seeking a new volunteer to co-chair the work group with Susan Curry.

List of remaining quarterly Work Group calls:

Mini-Conference Planning Work Group

The Mini-Conference held on October 25, 2018 at University of California’s Washington, DC Center was a great success, with presentations on using technology in new ways, reaching new generations of students, and thinking creatively about professional development for public interest students. A highlight was the plenary by Kalpana Kotagal of Cohen Milstein, touching on the value of diversity in our profession and our role as leaders and educators in promoting it.

NALP Conference RFP Work Group

Vice-chair: Lillian E. Evans, Deputy Director of Legal Recruiting and Deputy EEO Officer, New York City Law Department (currently on maternity leave)

Fifteen total proposals (up from a total of 7 submitted last year) on behalf of the Public Service section were submitted for consideration for the annual conference in San Diego. The Public Service section's RFPs made up 7% of all RFPs submitted for the conference. A total of seven RFPs listed below were accepted.

1. Easing the Student Debt Crisis: Financial Management Tools to Empower the New Generation
2. Progressive Prosecutors and their Commitment to Criminal Justice Reform
3. New Trends in Affordable Legal Services: Access to Justice Careers in the US and Canada
4. Public Sector Interviewing With Confidence
5. Helping The Helpers: Addressing Secondary Trauma to Support Sustainable Service
6. Movement and Community Lawyering
7. Civil Right to Counsel: How fighting eviction is creating new opportunities for attorneys.

The group is actively seeking a new Vice-Chair to work with Lillian Evans.

Pro Bono Work Group

Vice-chairs: Laura Burstein, Director of Public Service and Academic Success, SMU Dedman School of Law, and Jennifer Mencarini, Director of Career Development, Elon University School of Law

The Pro Bono Work Group held calls on June 21, 2018, September 20, 2018, and on January 17, 2019.

1. The group prepared a NALP Bulletin article about how law schools without a full-time pro bono coordinator provide meaningful, plentiful pro bono opportunities for students. This article will be published in the May 2019 issue.
2. The group conducted research with law schools in order to prepare a "best practices" resource about developing pro bono opportunities for students. A survey went live in November of 2018. The survey was intended to gather information about best practices to ensure compliance with ABA Standard 303 (b)(2), particularly for the benefit of law schools that do not have a full-time/dedicated pro bono coordinator/advisor. The survey received 28 responses.
3. List of remaining quarterly work group calls:
Thursday, April 18 3 p.m. EDT

PSJD Resources Work Group

Vice-chairs: Michael Bergmann, Executive Director, Public Interest Law Initiative (PILI) and Matt Orlins, Senior Law Career Counselor, The George Washington University Law School

They are continuing to work on the following projects:

1. Practice Guides: The PSJD Working Group helped to standardize the format and structure of the Practice Guides found in the Resource Center. There are several potential areas for which they might develop new guides.

Working group members are preparing practice guides in the following areas: Title IX, Consumer Law, Energy, and Housing and Community Development. Group members are conducting practitioner interviews in Energy/Environmental Law and Foreclosure and Consumer Law.

2. Student Interviews with Public Interest Practitioners: An idea to coordinate and then post online interviews with public interest practitioners on PSJD, which would include insights and experiences from the field, including how to land that kind of job, tips for ongoing career development, and details of practice in a particular area of the law.

3. Government jobs and salaries: They already have some resources on PSJD in this area that should be reviewed to determine if updates are needed and/or exist. There are also many publicly available databases of government salaries on both the federal and state level. An idea that it could be valuable for PSJD to create a catalog of these resources and how to use them to investigate attorney pay.
