Re: PLANC

After a number of years as NALP's PLANC liaison, Brian Lewis has stepped down in advance of his retirement. I was recently asked to fill the large shoes he leaves behind.

Brian kindly spent time providing to me background information on the position, as well as on PLANC leadership and other organizations' PLANC liaisons. I have been eIntroduced to several PLANC members, though beyond that there has been no interaction with PLANC.

The only other activity has been submitting a liaison budget request equal to Brian's most recent budget request. In addition to planning on attending two PLANC board meetings this year (October and March), I hope to spend time this year learning about and PLANC members' needs. Potential future efforts could include providing a NALP presence at regional PLANC meetings or simply updating pre-law resources on NALP's website.

I am very excited for and appreciative of this opportunity.
